

Says She Was Saved From Operating Table

Brother and Sister Both Relieved by Simple Remedy Available to Any One.

In here gratitude for a remedy that saved her from the possible necessity for an operation, Mrs. Carrie Hefflin, of Coats, Kan., writes: "Had it not been for Fruitola and Traxo I might have been on the operating table by now. It relieved me of at least one hundred and fifty gall stones. It surely does work wonders. My brother also had suffered for years and has been greatly benefited by Fruitola and Traxo."

Fruitola is a powerful lubricant for the intestinal organs, softening the congested masses, disintegrating the hardened particles that cause so much suffering and expels the accumulation in an easy, natural way. Traxo is a splendid tonic, acting on the liver and stomach with most beneficial results and is recommended for use in connection with Fruitola to build up and restore the weakened, run-down system.

Fruitola and Traxo are prepared in the Pinus laboratories at Monticello, Ill., and arrangements have been made to supply them through representative druggists. In Clarksburg they can be obtained at H. F. Burke, Cor. 3rd and Pike St.

Sketches of Little OLD NEW YORK By M. J. Intyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—E. A. Neil used to be a press agent for H. H. Frazer but now he's an honest to goodness producer and is going to star his talented bride in a play to be known as "The Bare Idea." He has not called in regular play builders but has hired Everett Shinn, an artist, and Wallace Irwin, the verse maker, to do the trick.

Shinn got into the playwrighting game for writing those amusing plays for the Waverly Place Players. One was called "Hazel Weston, or More Sinned Against Than Usual"; another was "Myrtle Clayton, or Wronged From the Start"; and still another was known as "Lucy Moore, the Prune Hater's Daughter."

Sylvio Hein, the young composer with a name like a new drink of soda water, is to write the music. New York is eagerly awaiting the production because Shinn has suggested that some day he is going to write a play giving the last act first and having the audience come in backwards.

Irwin was dashing off some lyrics the other day when he suddenly yelled, "What rhymes with yodler?"

Without looking up from his desk Well shouted: "Bryan!"

You may accept this story or leave it lay—it is matter of perfect indifference. Billy is a cab driver who stands in front of the Waldorf. Whenever a taxi draws up at the hotel Billy will watch his opportunity and when the chauffeur is not looking, he will walk up and bite the taxi's honking department and immediately look the other way. SUPERINTENDENT KAYFORD MINES

Author of Convincing Endorsement of Nerv-Worth Merits.

The following written endorsement of Nerv-Worth comes from a man who has 1,500 working under him at the Kayford mines near Charleston, and who is widely and favorably known to other thousands in West Virginia. H. L. Fisher, superintendent of the Kayford mines. Here is his written statement made some time ago to the Nerv-Worth demonstrator while in Charleston:

"Before getting help from that wonderful remedy, Nerv-Worth, I had suffered through two long weary years from stomach and bowel trouble, with a frequent sour stomach. Appetite went by the board. I became a miserable sleeper. Headache and pains in the small of my back distressed me day and night. Ambition left me, my circulation was poor; at times I was alarmingly dizzy, spots swam before my eyes, and I was in a generally rundown condition. Vastly different it is now and yet I am on only my second bottle of Nerv-Worth. This marvelous remedy has made a good sleeper of me now, it has given me a good appetite and digestion and wonderfully improved me in every way."

See demonstration at the Burke drug store, Third and Pike streets, this city. Talk to him about your case. Ask him for a sample dose, which is free. He will sell you Nerv-Worth and refund your dollar if no benefits are derived.—Advertisement.

GRAVENETTE EXHIBIT TO BE OF INTEREST

As Shown at the Store of United
Woolen Mills Company
Here by an Expert.

A practical and educational demonstration of what "Cravenette" actually is and why it is rain-repelling, will be given for the next ten days at The United Woolen Mills Company, 314 West Pike street, this city. An exhibit will be made in the window, and a demonstration will be given in the store by Miss Camille Schiele, of Parkersburg, who will be pleased to explain and inform everyone desiring to know the interesting process of invention and production of this discovery, which makes any fabric rain-proof like a duck's back.

This exhibit has been brought here from New York City by special arrangement between the Cravenette Company, U. S. A., and The United Woolen Mills Company for a two-fold purpose, and from Clarksburg it will continue on the circuit of the "United" stores in West Virginia and Ohio. The first purpose is to show that "Cravenette" is not a fabric as many people believe, but the trade-mark of a process which may be applied to every sort of fabric and make it rain-repellant. The second is to show the advantages of "Cravenette" proofed overcoats, tailored by The United Woolen Mills Company.

It may be of interest to the reader to know that "Cravenette" proofing is an art thirty-five years old, having first been invented in London in 1880. The invention was perfected on Craven street, hence the name "Cravenette."

The most important advantage of "Cravenette" proofing is that it does away with the use of rubber which cools the body in cold weather, and heats the body in hot weather, thereby opening the pores and making it susceptible to cold; whereas, "Cravenette" proof fabrics are normal fabrics and nowise altered in appearance or texture, therefore the air passes through them to the body, but the "Cravenette" proof restores to the fabric that rain-repelling quality which was removed from the fabric during its manufacture. The actual process the cloth goes through in making it resist water is a very interesting one, and is being thoroughly demonstrated in the store of The United Woolen Mills Company, as also by a display in the window.

You can stick your finger in ordinary water containing "Cravenette" powder, and it won't get wet. Water can be allowed to run for hours over a piece of woolen cloth, and it won't wet through. To show that "Cravenette" is not a chemical, goldfish are displayed alive and swimming in water containing "Cravenette" powder, held in "Cravenette" proofed cloth.

The management of The United Woolen Mills Company urgently invites everyone to inspect this exhibit, especially the student and those caring to delve into this invention of which very little is known.

Be it further resolved, that the said respective county courts secure the services of A. D. Williams, state road engineer, who shall go upon the route proposed and locate the same, making all necessary changes in the present roads or locations as will re-
